Background

Mr. Pozza began working with RER in 2019, after working over six years managing projects in the renewable energy industry.

In 2013, Mr. Pozza began to work on large-scale, commercial wind projects; assisting with many aspects of project development, from engineering to subcontractor & site management.

Mr. Pozza has also given his time as a volunteer on the RenewCrew in Honduras, constructing an array to help power a community.

Mr. Pozza's primary focus is on operations, including RER's new construction and the complete O&M portfolio. He oversees various commercial solar projects, monitors their progress and completion, and ensures that they meet the expectations of the clients.
